

Broadening the buying power of media companies will destroy our already diminishing access to diverse coverage and reporting of world and local events. We cannot maintain a democracy if citizens have no way of accessing information. We have seen the negative effects of huge companies monopolizing and controlling a market, government and society with food industry, clothing industry, business. We cannot continue to make the same mistakes.